[No. 5155.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS. THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature, speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. &c.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

100 Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from Peter Graham's living near Middleburg, Loudoun county, Va. on the night of the 25th of March last, a very likely Negro girl, named ANN, purchased of Wm. Noland, living at Aldie, Loudoun county, whose family she was raised in. She is of a yellow complexion, round faced, thick lips, with large staring eyes, and rather delicate featured for a slave—small feet, a tolerable ready speech, and mild with it; about 18 years of age, middle sized, and very well made; rather thick, about 5 feet high from appearance. She had on when she went away a dress of coarse cloth, made in a coat and jacket, with skirts of a brown stuff color. I have reason to believe she is in or near Philadelphia of New-York. I will give fifty dollars reward if taken in Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William, or Fairfax counties, or the District of Columbia, if taken in any other county or state, and secured in any jail, so that I obtain information and get her, I will give one hundred dollars, and all reasonable charges paid in either case, if brought home. VERSES SENT TO A TOWN LADY WITH A ROSE-BUD.

Depart, thou sweetest flow'r that blows,
And with Eliza, budding rose, Unfold thy latent bloom; Adorn the bosom of my fair, Expand thy blushing beauties there,
And meet in bliss thy doom.

Yet, rose! before thy charms decay, While glows thy beauty, bright as day,
And all thy charms approve, Oh! tell Eliza, in an hour [Now, Her charms may fade, like thine, sweet Oh! teach her heart to love.

Then let the blushing fair one see Resemblance of herself in thee, A rose-bud of the morn;
But sweetness, beauty, youth, combine With innocence to make her shine A rose without a thorn!

And when at eve thou droop'st thy head,
And wilt, with all thy beauties dead, Thy fragrance still retain,
Show her, although thy day is past, Although thy night approaches fast, That still thy sweets remain.

Show her, although thy charms are gone,
Which erst in brilliant colors shone, Thou still hast fragrant breath;
And let her draw thy moral thence,
Virtue alone is excellence Surviving after death. W. R. S.

LOSS OF BRIG JOHN McCAMMON.
Extract of a letter to Messrs. Vasques, Meyron & Cleman, of this city, dated Accomack, Eastern Shore of Virginia, February 1.

At the request of Captain Lormour, I hasten to apprise you of the disaster which has befallen the brig John McCammon, of and from Belfast, to your address. On the night between the 30th and 31st ultimo that vessel, having on board 280 cases of linen, salt, potatoes, and 23 passengers, was wrecked on the island of Assawoman, 10 miles below Pungoteague. The crew and passengers are all saved, and comfortably quartered.
The linen may also be mostly saved, except about 20 cases thrown over, but the residue of the cargo and the vessel will be chiefly lost. [Philad. paper.

The packet Accomack, captain Custis, which arrived last evening from Pungoteague, brought Mr. Gorman, his wife and four children, who were among the passengers in the brig John McCammon, captain Lormour, stranded on Assawaman beach, (as reported in the preceding article.) Mr. G. states that the brig had a passage of 49 days from Belfast, and the number of her passengers was 21, instead of 30, as was represented; that they had experienced a continued series of westerly winds until a few days before they made the land, when it hauled round to the northward and eastward, and at half past 2 o'clock, on Saturday morning, the 31st January, she struck. The sea running very high, and the snow falling so fast as to prevent them from discerning objects, they remained by the vessel until Sunday morning, when, by throwing overboard a quantity of salt, potatoes, and a few cases of diaper, she drifted further on to the beach, and by letting themselves down into the boat from the bowsprit, they were conveyed on shore in safety. Mr. G. further states, that the passengers, as soon as they landed, pitched a tent, intending to remain on the beach a few days, in expectation that they might thereby be enabled to save some of their baggage and other articles they had brought with them, which would be highly necessary in travelling in a strange land; but all their attempts were fruitless, as they could save no part of their "little all," and were obliged to take leave of one another in their destute situation, each departing for his place of destination on foot, and dependent entirely on the hospitality of the inhabitants for shelter and subsistence.— Mr. Gorman's object is to get to Raleigh, N. C. where his brother resides. So much was the attention of himself and his wife engaged in rescuing their dear little boys (and fine little fellows they are too) from the wreck, that they were unable to save any part of their property.

PERVERSION OF NAMES.
Liberty—the name of a county in the state of Georgia, containing in the year 1810, 6223 inhabitants, of whom 4808 were slaves, the name of the county notwithstanding.

TOAST.
Fertility to brains, and an insatiable appetite to curiosity.

Thursday, February 19, 1818.

A bill was yesterday read twice and committed, which (for the more convenient organization of the courts of the United States) provides that eight additional judges to go the circuits of the United States shall be appointed; that from the first day of April next the judges of the supreme court shall cease to perform that duty; shall consist permanently of one chief justice and four associate justices, and hold courts in May and December every year; and that the eight circuit judges shall hold circuit courts twice a year in the several districts, in conjunction with the district judges.

By a resolution passed yesterday the secretary of war is called upon to inform the house whether any of the army pay-masters have failed to settle and make returns to that office—to specify the names of the delinquents, and to state why they have not been coerced.

The uniform bankrupt law was again argued for the greater part of the day.— Mr. Sergeant made one of the most powerful argumentative speeches I ever heard in favor of the bill. General Smith spoke well on the same side, and displayed much practical knowledge. The committee then rose, reported progress, and obtained leave to sit again; and the house adjourned.

Mr. Sergeant's speech was such a close-wrought tissue of deductive reason, that nothing but a complete transcript of the whole could convey an adequate idea of its excellence.

The Legislature of Virginia has passed tablish a Turnpike Road from Wiley's

The Legislature of Maryland adjourned ing the session, two hundred and twenty-eight laws.

The Weather at Albany, on Wednesday, 11th inst. is said to have been ten degrees colder than has been experienced in that city, since the winter of 1780.
In some parts of the city, the thermometer sunk to 34 degrees below zero.

A letter dated at Malaga, on the 16th of December, and received in Baltimore, says—"The rescinding the quarantine regulations respecting the Greek vessels from the Levant sea, has caused great numbers of their ships to arrive in the ports of Spain, in consequence of which, wheat has fallen from a high to a very low price. The duty of $3 per barrel on flour at Lisbon, took place on the 1st of November, by an edict of the government."

COMMUNICATION.

The design of this paragraph is to render merited praise to Mr. PARKER, of the Theatre, for the very entertaining ballet of Flora's Birth-Day, introduced by him on Wednesday evening last. In complimenting this performance, I do not convey my own opinion merely, but that of each individual who attended. The design of the piece (which is as interesting as human ingenuity could make it) was only equalled by its masterly performance—a performance which fairly excelled every thing of the kind ever before attempted in this Theatre. I was too much pleased with Mr. and Mrs. PARsons' dancing to view it critically—although I am assured by connoisseurs that it possesses grace, ease, elegance and activity, as well as every other quality necessary to the perfection of so fascinating an accomplishment. The citizens of Alexandria have thus discovered (and without any introductory puffing, too) that the performance of the bodies was not the only novelty comprised in the engagement of the managers with Mr.
PARKER. They have been agreeably surprised with the exhibition of another species of amusement—which, though presented first to our curiosity, will from its superior weight, ever retain the first place in our ADMIRATION.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS, VIRGINIA.

ing gentlemen were duly elected:

Philip R. Thompson,
John G. Jackson,
Robert Craig.

INMURDER.

The head of a mendicant woman, who lately died at the hospital of St. Thomas, London, was retained by the faculty, and the body given to her son, a young sailor, for burial. The son, indignant at the outrage, complained to the lord-mayor. He remonstrated in many terms against the unnatural act of mutilating his mother, and expressed his determination of not burying her haggard corpse until the dissected member was restored. His lordship condemned the conduct of the surgeons, and directed Mr. Cartright, the marshalman, to attend the complainant to St. Thomas, and learn the cause of their persisting in such cruelty. The marshalman, on his return, informed that the seaman's father had sold his mother's head to the surgeons for one pound!

Buenos Ayres.

Whatever relates to this new republic must be, in some degree, interesting to an American reader. We frequently hear news of the political and military affairs of that country, but the heralds who announce such intelligence always forget to tell us any thing about the people themselves, their manners, customs and character. The following brief sketch, however, partially supplies these omissions, and will, no doubt, be read with a good deal of interest. It is communicated by a gentleman of intelligence and strict veracity, now in Buenos Ayres, in a letter to a friend in this place:

"Buenos Ayres Nov 20.

"The inhabitants, like the European Spaniards, are remarkable for their indolence, but very unlike them in their politeness, sociability and gaiety. The women are more lovely and fascinating in their persons than can well be imagined by those who have never seen them.
To visit the tiger or bull fights, the opera house, or their sociable tertulias, (similar to the tea parties in Virginia) is to behold a display of female beauty surpassing the most extravagant description I am capable of giving. But then, (O human frailty!) they are even more addicted to gallantry and intrigue than the ladies of Spain or Italy. O, how exalted, in my estimation, are the fair daughters of my native land at this moment!
With what rapture do I dwell upon the reminiscence of those characteristic traits of modesty, sincerity, prudence and rigid virtue, by which they are so peculiarly distinguished from the ladies of almost every other country in the universe.

"The abundance of every kind of provision in this place will appear almost incredible. It is now the commencement of the spring season, and there is not an article that attracts the eye that is not plenty in the superlative degree—with the exception of honest men. A bull or ox may be bought for one dollar; an elegant horse for four dollars; the most beautiful horse in the country may be purchased for the trifling sum of sixteen dollars. Sheep are animals that the natives will not eat, and they are only used to burn the brick kilns with—they are sometimes valued at 125 to 135 cents per head.

"A certain barbarian (for I can call him nothing else) residing three miles out of this city, regularly every year drives in to his pens 10,000 sheep, alive, and closing the kilns set fire to the poor harmless animals with as much sang froid as a e of your Norfolk brick-makers would to a collection of pine fuel. In short the country is so overrun with every description of domestic and wild animals, that they range at large without restraint, perfectly their own masters.—Every man is an expert horseman; and every horseman is a sure goucher or jossar, as they are here termed. He can mount his horse, and with a rope 100 yards in length, attached to the hinder part of his saddle, give chase in full speed, throw a running noose over the object of pursuit, (whether a man or a wild animal) with incredible certainty, and thus entangling it, wheel suddenly about and set off at full gallop, dragging his victim or prey after him.— In this manner they take all the animals on which the inhabitants of the country and the cities subsist. Nothing can escape the running noose of these extraordinary and expert horsemen when in pursuit.

"Nature has not intended this for a great maritime country. A ship carpenter might do well enough at repairing vessels, making spars, etc. but he would meet with poor success in building, as he could find neither of those essentials, timber and water, in sufficient abundant.

"The whole of South America on the south side of the great river (Rio de la Plata) is now entirely free from the Spanish yoke. The two conquering armies of Buenos Ayres, under the command of the celebrated general St. Martin and Belgrano, having conquered the extensive province of Chili, are now on its northern borders, and upon the eve of commencing operations against the roya-lists in the province of Peru; so that Lima, with its golden harvests, may soon be expected to form another link in the chain of Republican dominion. The inveterate hatred they bear to the European Spaniards, and their "adored Ferdinand," is beyond conception. In this part of the republic all is tranquility, order and system. Every day here seems like a day of general festivity, and one can see nothing in the people indicative of the great contest for their independence; yet they are, apparently, strangers to fear, and are vigorously engaged in contending for the independence of the neighboring provinces.

"On the north side of the river things will never go right as long as Artigas is the chief in command. He is an ambitious and a dangerous man, and it evidently appears that he has no other object in view in driving the Portuguese out of that country, than to sit himself quietly down as its sole master. Therefore you may readily perceive he has not many friends in these southern provinces."

By the schooner Sector, the editors of the Norfolk Herald have received Trinidad papers to the 24th of January, from which they extract the following as the only article of news.

Trinidad, January 24.

We are in possession of important news from Caracas: Mr. Lindsay, of Grenada, the day before yesterday arrived here from Cumana and Caracas, which last city he left the end of December. He states that confidence in the royal government was restored—that many emigrant families had returned from St. Thomas and Curacao; among which, we understand, two sisters of the marquis de Toros. Orders had been received from the Spanish cabinet to observe the strictest obedience to the royal pardon of those persons who would wish to return and avail themselves of it. All the families returned were immediately put in possession of their property; and from the known character of the present captain general, brigadier general Pardo, all the emigrants who wish to return to that country may expect an entire compliance with the royal "Indulto."

From two to three hundred houses were rebuilding at Caracas; and at La-guaira, and Puerto Cabello, trade with the neutral colonies, and with Old Spain had greatly revived.

VISIT TO THE TOMBS OF WASHINGTON.

[It has been mentioned, that the officers of the old Continental Army, now visi-tating at Washington, were about repairing on a mournful pilgrimage to MOUNT VERNON, to pay their last respects to the remains of their Great Leader, over his tomb. As apposite to the occasion, the following article is copied, published some time since in the Lynchburg Post.]

The following is an extract of a letter written by our lamented friend, Major John Reid, after an excursion in company with GENERAL JACKSON, to MOUNT VERNON. It will be recollected that the Legislature of Virginia, has very properly reminded Congress of that respect which is so justly due to "the remains" of our most exalted Chief. It is indeed not a little strange that this tribute should have been thus long neglected, under such circumstances.

The pathetic manner in which Major John Reid notices this neglect, is calculated to awaken in our minds a recollection of virtues in a great man which should never be forgotten. And to cherish such recollections we think is not inconsistent with our duty.

Washington City, 26th Nov. 1815.

DEAR REVEREND

It is now night, and I am just returned from a visit to Mount Vernon—a spot rendered sacred to every American boson by the residence of its former owner.
Judge Washington was unfortunately not at home; but from Mr. Herbert, who married his niece, and from the rest of the family, we received the utmost hospitality and politeness.

The road to Mount Vernon leads by Alexandria, through which we passed incognito, that we might not in so solemn a pilgrimage be interrupted by the intrusion of impertinent curiosity.

The sight is really a delightful one.— By a gentle ascent you reach the summit of an eminence which commands, on the one side, an extensive country prospect, and overlooks, on the other, the majestic Potomac, on the bosom of which, vessels of various descriptions are continually gliding. On the summit stands the venerable dwelling of the patriarch of our liberties—corresponding in its style with the plain and simple style of him who planned it. A neat little flower garden, laid out and trimmed with the utmost exactness, and ornamented with green and hot houses, in which flourish the most beautiful and tropical plants, affords a happy relief to the solemn sadness produced by a view of the the-trical structure which it adjoins, and leads you insensibly into a train of pleasant melancholy musings, in which you review, in imagination, the manner in which the greatest and best of men, alter the most active and eventful life, solaced in retirement the evening of his days. Endured every thing you behold unrives a thousand-fold interest from being associated with the memory of its venerable proprietor.—All the splendor of the most fanciful decorations, formed to gratify a nation's or an individual's vanity can excite no such interest.

From the garden, I went to visit a spot in which no enlivening, scarcely a consoling emotion could find a place in my bosom. In a small vault on the river side of the hill, ill constructed and overgrown with shrubbery, repose the bones of the father of his country. Why is this so? Must the charge of ingratitude for ever rest upon Republics? It is now several sessions since Congress solicited the "the remains" of him whose life had been devoted to his country's service, in order that some suitable testimonial of that country's respect might be shown to them. The venerable widow who cherished them as the most precious relic, sacrificed her individual feelings to the nation's wishes, and granted the request. Since then, as though this apparently warm interest had been but as studied mockery, those remains have been permitted to moulder in the "dark narrow cell" where they were at first deposited. I perceive that the whole family are mortified and hurt at it—not that they desire any splendid national Mausoleum to preserve the perishable remains of one whose virtues are entombed in their hearts, and will live forever—but that they themselves, are now debarred an opportunity of testifing that decent respect for their "dear lost lord" which their feelings dictate to them as a duty. Oh my country, when WASHINGTON is forgotten, who of thy Sons can ever hope to be remembered!

I had intended to have given you an account of our splendid dinings with Mr. and Mrs. Madison on Thursday last, and with Mr. Madison on yesterday;— but I find that my heart is not in tune for the recital of festivities.

Richmond, February 17.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT.

Yesterday, the following report of the select committee was read in the House of Delegates, agreed to, and sent to the Senate, for their concurrence:

The committee to whom were referred "so much of the Governor's message as relates to a monument to Washington," have had that subject under consideration, and beg leave to submit thereon the following report:

It appears to your committee that in pursuance of a resolution of the General Assembly, adopted the 16th day of Feb.
1817, instructions were issued by the Executive, on the fourth of April following, to persons selected for their patriotism and integrity, to receive voluntary donations to be applied to the erection of a monument to the memory of the late General George Washington. In the execution of this particular mode of raising a fund adequate to the accomplishment of so desirable an object, your committee distinctly perceive, at once, the design of the legislature to avoid a departure from the policy which has universally characterized the councils of the state, probibiting the imposition of taxes for any other purpose than to meet the public expenses, and a desire to afford to their fellow citizens, generally, an opportunity of manifesting by a voluntary act their strong attachment to that best & greatest of men. How mortifying then would be the reflection that the only fruit of that scheme was the collection of a few considerable sum of one hundred and thirty seven dollars, del-they not feel assured that no evidence is afforded, by that circumstance, of unwillingness in the people to co-operate in the laudable designs of the Legislature.

First, because in the instructions of the Executive no time was specified when the payment of the sums which might be subscribed, was required to be paid into the treasury.

Secondly, because the great territorial extent of the commonwealth, taken in connection with the recent date of the instructions, would have rendered the completion of the plan impracticable, at any time within the present session, although under the resolution of the last general Assembly, in compliance with which those instructions were issued, nothing could be more natural than the presumption of the Executive, that the operation of that measure was expected to be concluded by the commencement of the present session.

And lastly, because they are persuaded from much circumstantial information which they have received, that considerable sums are already subscribed and daily augmenting which have not been paid into the treasury. For these reasons, although they would not hesitate under different circumstances to advise an immediate appropriation from the treasury to effect an object, which would afford so proud an example of gratitude and devotion in his countrymen to the immortal Washington, your committee beg leave to recommend the adoption for the present of the following resolutions.

Resolved, That the executive be requested to renew the instructions issued on the 11th April last, appointing commissioners under a resolution of the General Assembly, adopted the 16th Feb.
1817, to receive voluntary donations, to be applied to the erection of a monument to the late general George Washington; and to require the said commissioners to close their subscriptions, and make their returns in the manner prescribed in the above mentioned resolution, on or before the 15th day of December next.

Resolved, That the executive be requested to provide a suitable model of a monument, the cost of which shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars, to be erected to the memory of the late General George Washington.

Resolved, That the cost of the said model, if any, be paid out of the civil contingent fund.

Dragoons, E. Emberton, &c.

A description of the scenery, machinery, &c. prepared expressly for Tekell.

Act I. Scene I. NIGHT. Curtain rises to show music. A FOREST. On the right a large Tree, on the left a thick cluster of small Trees.

During the last part of the overture and rising of the curtain, A STORM. Tekell is discovered lying on the branch of a large tree, and Wolf (his friend) asleep at the foot of it. Dialogue—Music. A skirmishing party of the Imperialists, which is about the wood for the purpose of cutting off the retreat of Tekell, enter. Tekell and Wolf fall on the ground and escape a charge of the enemy. They subsequently hide behind a thicket. The Infantry charge and THE CAVALRY follow—the horses displaying agility by each leaping the bushes. Tekell and Wolf having escaped, rush forward, kneel and embrace. Music expressive the whole time. Dialogue. Villagers enter—who being made acquainted with the wants of Tekell, compose a litter ornamented with boughs. Chorus—Hail the nuptial hour, and exit.

Act II. An interior view of the MILL of KEBEN. In the front a barn filled with the implements of husbandry. A large extensive view of the WIND MILL, with the sails at work. On the left a Bridge crossing the river Torza; under which is the Water Mill seen at work. On the right Christine's Apartment. In the back, at the supposed distance of 3 miles, is the FORTRESS OF MONTGATZ, on a rock. In the front two or three barrels. Enter Christine—song, "How sweet are the flowers that grow by yon fountain." Dialogue. Tekell is borne in on the litter—he makes himself known to the miller, who, although an enemy, shelters him from the pursuit of the soldiery, which are stationed in every apartment to prevent his escape. They are defeated, and Tekell is preserved in an extraordinary manner. March. The detachment in the mill, with Maurice commanding, march on and range themselves. Count Caraffa enters with his party. The mill detachment presents arms—the count examines the miller, whose answers not being satisfactory, he is dragged before the court.

Act III. A GOTHIC HALL in the Fortress of Montgat. A table covered with a carpet, on which lies a mantle and helmet. The curtain rises to solemn music. Alexina addresses her soldiers; and in answer to an imperious demand of Count Caraffa, made through his herald Edmund, she strikes her shield, the doors of the Hall fly open, and discover the battlements of the Fortress filled with horse and foot. Alexina then mounts her elegant Arabian charger and addresses them.

Last Scene. The whole extent of the Battlements, the Towers and Walls of Montgat. In an elevated situation on the tower hangs the standard of the Hungarians. On the distant hills, Caraffa's Camp—the Austrian colors flying. A Gale and Port Callis. March. Enter troops in all directions—GENERAL ENGAGEMENT between the Austrians and Hungarians. During the fight an Hungarian officer, with unrepined courage, mounts the battlements, and his horse, with wonderful sagacity, tears down the Austrian flag. Tekell is seen on the Ramparts—Caraffa dashes him to the fight. TEKELL ENTERS ON HORSEBACK.

SINGLE COMBAT between Tekell and Caraffa, in the course of which Tekell's Horse is shot under him by Caraffa. He dismounts, and they fight on foot. Caraffa is overthrown. STORMING OF THE FORTRESS. Tekell and his party prove victorious, and he is restored to his Alexina, amidst the shouts of the victors and the waving of the Hungarian flag from the towers of the Fortress.

James Kennedy & Son,
RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,
No. 45, Maiden Lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MED-ICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.
This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles as commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body, but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terres or large round worm; the Ascaris or small maw-worm; the Cucurbita or short fat white worm; and lastly, the Tania or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.
Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and acid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.
Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.
Children generally take this medicine with eagerness having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAIN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the enterprising feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than can be asserted of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
